THREE SCORE AND TEN.

"Our age to seventy years is set."
I've crossed that boundary, and yet
My inner being seemeth young.

I feel no wrinkles on the heart,
Time has not chilled the social glow,
Music and chaste mirth impart
Their pleasing spell of long ago.

The birds that carol at the dawn,
The bees that thrum the clover swain,
And children playing on the lawn,
For me have lost no early charm.

Science, invention, art and song,
The life and progress of the age,
The warfare with the false and wrong,
That patriots and Christians wage:

All that promotes the weal of men
Or helps them on their upward way, Attracts me at three score and ten
As under life's meridian ray.

It tells me that the hour is near,
Although in love deferred so long,
When I from earth shall disappear
And mingle with the silent throng.

But earth will smile as gay and green,
And heaven still shine in gold and blue,
When I have vanished from the scene,
And friends will soon their claim renew.

How little good we can achieve
With all the folk encountered here!
Then it were weak and vain to grieve
When passing to a purer sphere.

New ranks will rush with deed and thought To bear the moral standard high;
And the small good that I have wrought
Has taken root and cannot die.

And though my eye is doubly dim,
And natural strength begins to wane—
Less strong of arm and little of limb—
Still thought and memory remain.

But early friends of whom I dream
Are growing fewer year by year,
And if I linger I shall seem
A lonely stranger here.

The friendly deference I meet
From younger travelers near and far,
When crossing o'er the crowded street,
Or stepping from the halted car.

Reminds me that the Alpine snow
Has drifted over brow and beard;
Tis sweet to be beloved, I know,
But sadder to be revered.

And on this truth I rest my heart,
Since all to force life's aspires,
He who implanted will not thwart
This inborn, deathless, pure desire.

As the long-voyaging Genoese
To the new world he sought drew near,
The balm of flowers born on the breeze
Came from the land his faith to cheer.

So when we near the Eden shore,
Before its hills of light are seen,
The fragrance of its peace comes o'er The narrowing sea that flows between.

—Christian Leader.

P. N. Markell, West Jeddore, N. S., writes:
"I wish to inform you of the wonderful cure of Dr. Thomas' Eclectic Oil. I had a horse so lame that he could scarcely walk; the trouble was in the knee, and two or three applications completely cured him." For sale by Women Never Think!

If the cradled old babe who uttered this sentiment could but witness the intense thought, deep study and thorough investigation of women in determining the best medicines to keep their families well, and would know their sagacity and wisdom in selecting Hop Bitters as the best and demonstrating it by keeping their families in perpetual health, it is a mere nominal expense, he would be forced to acknowledge that such sentiments are baseless and false. my 15-2nd w

After a day's hard work at business, one goes home to rest and enjoy the evening in conversation or reading, finding much cooling during the day, a couch, with satiate delight, suits him to fit his mind, and turns him such time a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Eclectic Oil is certainly worth its weight in gold, as it can instantly relieve, or cure, the most ever-severe they may be. For sale by H. B.

The Doctors' Finding.
Ever since Prof. Green wrote to the Medical Record advising physicians everywhere to use the Safe Kidney and Liver Cure in their practice, it has been gaining in favor with the profession. They can find nothing which is a substitute for it. R. G. Gault, M. D., of Rochester, N. Y., says he would now prescribe it to all who are afflicted with serious kidney and liver diseases. my 15-2nd w

STOP! STOP!! STOP!!!

Stop making a drug store of your stomach.

Stop putting bitters, pills, liver invigorators, blood purifiers, calomel, blue pill, quinine, morphine, and all other drugs and quick medicines into your stomach, they kill instead of curing the body. This is my advice, after acting the physician for 31 years. If you'll examine the histories of nearly all medicine vendors for the last 50 years, you will find the vendors of these worthless compounds have all died prematurely. Where is Schenck,

Swayne (father and son), Brandreth, Ayer,

Wishart, Jayne, Hobbins, Misher? All dead and buried as should all such preparations. For 31 years I have cured all kinds of diseases

when others fail, and I place my medicines

(not poisons) on the outside of the body. To
